Gearing up to see God move

Maria and I have kept ourselves busy yet at the same time thrilled to see so many familiar faces again back in the States!

Maria has handled her traveling pregnancy so far like a pro and our son on the way seems to me as hyper as ever!

We travel down south to continue support raising as well as to see family on Monday and we fly back out to Spain the following week on the 30th!

Time is flying but we are doing our best to enjoy every moment while also eager to get back to where God has placed our calling and hearts!

Maria and I are so overwhelmed with gratitude for all of your prayers encouragement and passion to see God take and multiply every single thing He has given us for His glory!

This month Maria and I are excited to reinvite you to be able to be blessed in joining what He's already started to do through you in Spain!

There is no group of people more cherished by us than the those who have put our family's life in their own hands to allow us to answer Gods call!

More to come soon!
